Impaired: A Nurse's Story of Addiction and Recovery. For example, the woman she met at the Institute of Living rehab center Erin was also a nurse and an addict. While Holloran herself did not relapse, Erin did due to different circumstances (ie: returning to work before she was fully recovered). Most hospitals are understanding of addiction and support the nurse in getting help and finding recovery. My case was certainly quite the opposite. I ultimately chose to surrender my nursing license and I was able to do so with grace. Impaired: A Nurse's Story of Addiction and Recovery. So begins a journey that will change everything about what she knows about herself and the world of addiction. As a nurse in a labor and delivery unit, Holloran was working full time on the night shift and taking care of. It turns out that most nurses who admit to diverting narcotics are never charged. Most hospitals are understanding of addiction and support the nurse in getting help and finding recovery. My case was certainly quite the opposite.
